AWARDS & HONORS

Our highly qualified, experienced and diverse faculty receive state, national, and international accolades for their public health work.

PRESIDENT FRENK

In all his work, President Frenk has been guided by the belief that evidence should underpin policy.

— Dr. Mariano Kanamori was named one of the recipients of the 2021 Gilead Award. The funding will support the continuation of a project titled, “FINISHING HIV: An HIV protection, diagnosis, and treatment network for Latinos”.

— Dr. Tyler Bartholomew was named a 2021-2022 Johns Hopkins Inter-CFAR HIV Implementation Science Fellow.

— Dr. Mariano Kanamori also received the Society for Prevention Research Abstract of Distinction Award and Best Research Poster Award in 2022.

Dr. Felicia Knaul was recognized as an Honorary Fellow by the American Academy of Nursing for her work on reducing inequities and access to health care for vulnerable groups globally.

Our faculty work on research projects in countries throughout South America, the Caribbean, the Middle East, and Africa.

— Dr. Jose Szapocznik was inducted into the Academy of Science, Engineering and Medicine of Florida (ASEMFL).

— Dr. Guillermo “Willy” Prado, professor of nursing and health studies, public health sciences, and psychology at the University of Miami, was elected to the prestigious National Academy of Medicine (NAM).

— Dr. Alberto Caban-Martinez received honorable mention for the NIOSH 2022 National Bullard-Sherwood Research to Practice (r2p) Award.

— Dr. Patricia Moreno received the Academy of Behavioral Medicine Research (ABMR) Early-Stage Investigator Award in March 2022.

TEACHING

ENROLLMENT

The Department of Public Health Sciences exceeded the enrollment target for FY22 admissions by 23%.

The significant increase in enrollment can be attributed to several factors including an increased interest in public health due to the COVID-19 pandemic and social justice issues, a robust scholarship program with the goal of making our graduate degrees more affordable for all students, coupled with innovative ways to recruit students virtually. Retention outreach efforts were also strengthened.

TEACHING MODALITY

Public Health courses were offered in both a hybrid and online format due to the ongoing pandemic.

In FY22, we continued to provide flexibility during the COVID-19 pandemic so students could attend classes remotely if they needed. This was accomplished by employing a hybrid format (i.e., some students in person and some online via Zoom at the same time). Our classroom equipment facilitated this process; teaching assistants were trained to assist students participating online in a hybrid class to maintain student engagement.

We empower our students to transform lives and inspire them to serve our global community.

— Dean Henri Ford

GRADUATION

The mission of the Graduate Programs in Public Health is to develop leaders who can generate and translate knowledge into policy and practice to promote health and prevent disease in human populations.

STUDENT GRADUATION

The following graph depicts the number of students that have graduated across the various master's and Ph.D. programs in the Department of Public Health Sciences in fiscal year 2022.

In public health, society is our patient.

— President Julio Frenk

DPHS RESILIENCY SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM

The Department of Public Health Sciences launched its new Resiliency Scholarship Program to support resilient MPH and MSPH students in their efforts to address community or global public health issues through their graduate studies.

Diana Hernandez Payano was named the inaugural recipient of the DPHS Resiliency Scholarship Program in Fall 2021.

Diana is particularly interested in social epidemiology and population health and intends to pursue a career as a public health researcher.

ACCREDITATION

The Department of Public Health Sciences has secured a full 7-year accreditation term through the Council on Education for Public Health (CEPH), which is the governing agency responsible for the accreditation of schools and programs of public health.

The University of Miami Graduate Programs in Public Health has been accredited by the Council on Education for Public Health (CEPH) since 1982.

The Graduate Programs participated in the most recent CEPH site visit in October 2021 and was awarded reaccreditation in March 2022 for a full 7-year term, through Summer 2029.

SCHOLARSHIPS & FELLOWSHIPS

All MPH and MSPH students matriculating in the Fall 2021 and Spring 2022 semesters completing a 45-credit degree program received up to 20% in tuition scholarship awards.

The Department of Public Health Sciences guaranteed partial scholarships to accepted students in the Master of Science in Biostatistics and the Master of Science in Prevention Science and Community Health programs.

The department also offered public health graduate students various opportunities to gain professional experience while working as a Graduate Assistant, Teaching Assistant, and Research Assistant.

DOCTORAL FUNDING

All doctoral students in Epidemiology, Biostatistics, Prevention Science, and Community Health are fully supported through various sources.

Full-time Ph.D. students receive the following support:

- ▶ Full tuition support for the length of the Ph.D. program
- ▶ Annual Stipend — $32,000 (paid monthly)
- ▶ Graduate Student Health Insurance

Doctoral students also have access to research grants, fellowships, conferences, and workshops, fostering innovation, collaboration, and networking in their fields.

CPH EXAM

The Department of Public Health Sciences offered a unique opportunity for current students and alumni to become certified in public health. DPHS sponsored vouchers for eligible current students and alumni to register for the CPH Exam in Spring 2022.

Because the Department of Public Health Sciences allowed me the opportunity to obtain the CPH exam Voucher, I was able to take the CPH Exam. Thank you!

— Elizabeth Soriano, MPH
CPH Exam Voucher Recipient

This program prepared me and sponsored my opportunity to take the CPH Exam. I am grateful for the Department of Public Health’s commitment to their students and alumni’s success.
